

The Energy Saving House (New Futures)

Save money-and save the planet! This informative and practical guide will show you how. Packed with facts and figures, The Energy Saving House covers every aspect of home energy use: from designing and building, through choice of materials, proper insulation, heating options, ventilation, air conditioning, lighting, water consumption and heating, super windows, renovation and retrofitting, to choosing household appliances and fuel suppliers. Throughout, it emphasizes the benefits of negawatts-the energy you don't use-and shows how you can retain the comforts of life, yet save 60% of your energy and water use. Thierry Salomon is an applied engineer whose company, Gefosat, specializes in energy efficiency and developing renewable energy resources. Stephane Bedel is a heat engineering specialist with Gefosat.
