

Clean Pets & Clean House - Natural Green Household Cleaning Tips and Tricks for Dog Owners

For a very long time I used store-bought cleaning products for my everyday household cleaning tasks. However, in less than a week after I adopted two adorable and sweet puppies, one of them had a severe eye infection. Several days later, the other puppy began an awful bout of itching and biting at night, and when we got up the next morning, he had bitten a very scary large hot spot on his skin. It was bleeding. I immediately took him to the animal hospital. It took almost an entire week for him to heal. The veterinarian warned me about the large amounts of chemicals in my household cleaning products and the harmful effects of their toxic ingredients on my dogs health. I became very worried. Having two dogs in my life has been one of the most rewarding experiences for me, and therefore I wanted to do everything in my power to make sure these horrific situations would not happen again. For the next few months, I consulted doctors and other experienced dog owners. I learned from them that not only are pets prone to directly ingesting these products, but we also put them at risk when we use toxic cleaning products all around the house. Pets are at the ground level where they are vulnerable to excess cleaning solutions. Their beds, toys, treats are on the carpet, floor, sofa, etc. Your pets will lick, sniff, and lay in these pools of toxic solutions. This can cause a great number of health problems for your animals. We have all heard various tragic stories about pets getting access to toxic cleaning solutions and pesticides. The productions of many commercially prepared cleaning products contain neurotoxins, carcinogens, heavy metals, and depressants. They can cause damage to the nervous system, cause respiratory issues, severe irritation to the eyes, nose, throat, mouth, and skin. Some of them can damage our pets brain and key filtering organs such as the liver and kidneys, and even cause cancers.

Thankfully, there are many easy-to-use, natural and effective alternatives to those conventional, commercially produced brand name cleaning products, and you could find most of the ingredients right at home, inside the fridge, cabinet, and pantry. Natural and homemade cleaning products are non-toxic. They do not irritate the skin or eyes or cause respiratory problems. They are not poisonous if ingested. There are no harsh fumes. They are much safer for pets and children. They are also cheaper than commercially prepared cleaners, and they produce better cleaning results. By following the easy, quick, safe steps in Clean Pets and Clean House, you will have a home that is truly clean rather than covered in toxic chemicals. You will keep your pets clean, safe and comfortable. You will save money, time, energy and make yourself, your family and your pets happy. You will learn how to: -- create natural homemade dog shampoos -- keep fleas away from your furry friends -- clean up animal urine, vomit, and poop -- remove stubborn pet stains and odours -- clean pet beds and keep them fluffy -- clean dirty pet toys and stuffed animals -- and more. Its a wonderful feeling to know that you are creating a safer environment for your family and pets to live in.
